EYESORE MOVED

The building abandoned on the K of C property has finally been moved following town court action against the owner. The town moved against the mover by taking action against him for abandoning a registered vehicle. The court set a deadline of 9 A.M. last Friday and the building was moved out of town at 2 A.M. It was difficult for town officials to take action in the matter because the building was abandoned on private property but the Selectmen seized upon the abandoned trailer as a means to accomplish the removal and were successful.

POLICE UNION HAS GRIEVANCE

The newly formed Police Brotherhood brought a grievance before the Board of Selectmen at last Tuesday's meeting. The police union claims a violation of the contract as concerns special details. The union wants priority given to fulltime police officers to fill extra or special details. The town counsel has the contract provisions under study and will report to Selectmen who will make a decision on Thursday.

LIBRARY PROGRESS

The two Library Trustees, Mrs. Agnes Berg and Dr. Manuel Rosenfield, met with the Board of Selectmen and discussed plans for the Library renovation which covers the fire alarm system, the slip beam and footing. The specifications for this work are being drawn and will be put out for bid upon completion.

On October 15, the Trustees and the Board of Selectmen will elect a replacement for the vacancy on the Board of Trustees caused by the resignation of Richard Waterhouse.

WANTS PUMPER IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Mr. Allen Perkins inquired if the town intended to dispose of the #5 pumper. He said that he had a buyer in Franconia interested in obtaining it to fight forest fires in that area. Selectmen said that the Board of Health was interested in the equipment and will have first refusal on it.

SUSPENSION OF LICENSE

A hearing was held on an alleged violation at the Spinnaker Restaurant. As a result the Board of Selectmen voted to suspend their alcoholic beverage license and common victualler license for a period from October 1, 1974 to October 10, 1974.

ASK TRAILER FOR BRANDT ISLAND

The Environmental Devices Corp. of Marion requested the opinion of the Board of Selectmen on their desire to place a trailer on the Manuel Nunes property on Brandt Island Road in the course of business. Town counsel Leonard Perry ruled that the firm would have to obtain a variance from the Board of Appeals in order to transact business from a trailer there.

DPW PROPOSES $20,000 JETTY

The Selectmen received a new proposal concerning the Eel Pond. The DPW now proposes a $20,000 jetty at the mouth to stop storm fill in the channel. Mattapoisett's share would be $10,000. The Board of Selectmen has replied with their original proposal that 200 feet of the channel be riprapped and jetty protected at a $3,500 cost to the town.

ASKS VENDING SPACE FROM HOUSING AUTH.

Roy C. Swanner, Supervisor of Business Enterprises Program, Commission for the Blind, requested a report on space in public buildings suitable for establishing vending stands from the Mattapoisett Housing Authority.

The Selectmen replied that the town does not have appropriate public buildings for such vending stands.

ASK PARKING & RESURFACE OF NORTH ST.

The Selectmen have requested September 12 that the Mass. DPW establish a commuter parking lot on North Street at the I-195 cloverleaf on North Street. They state that there is no lighting there whatsoever causing a driving hazard. Selectmen said that there is one pedestrian fatality on record and that proper lighting might help to avoid such accidents.

THE MARION AREA

A new resident called Toll Free 1-800-882-1649 (between 10 & 2) the number for the LWV Voter Info Service to ask if she, a new resident, could vote in the November 5th election. She was relieved to learn that there is no longer a residential waiting period before registering. But she MUST register before October 8th at her Town Hall during regular business hours or during the additional evening & Saturday hours now required by law.

She asked about membership in the LWV of the Marion Area. She learned of the $10.00 membership which would include a $3.00 subscription to the National Voter, and a $1.25 one to the Mass. Voter. Also, from her dues, $4.50 would give legal support to National League positions in Washington, D.C. AND when she learned that the Marion League has pledged $7.78 to the State League just for her membership, she figured she made $6.53 - not to mention any of the fringe benefits - of studying an issue she was interested in with others who have discovered that grassroots people can effect changes in the USA today.

O.R.R. News

The Guidance Office staff of Old Rochester Regional High School invites parents to make personal appointments or telephone calls to receive answers to questions pertaining to the educational well-being of their children. The office number is 758-3745.

Of particular importance to college bound Seniors are the dates of this year's College Boards; the December 7th administration of this test will be at Old Rochester Regional High, closing dates for college applications, dates for college representatives visiting ORR, available scholarships, and the Federal and State financial aid applications.

Information pertaining to career choice and the job market opportunities is available and is being posted.

HIGH INTENSITY READING LAB

Eighty-four students at Old Rochester Regional Junior High School have been selected to participate in the school's federally funded High Intensity Reading Lab. Membership in this program is based on student performance on a standardized reading test, individual testing, and on teacher recommendation.

Initiated last January under the direction of Philip Devaux, Old Rochester Regional Curriculum Director, this Title I Reading Program worked to bring the reading skills of 71 seventh grade students up to grade level. By June, reading lab teacher Mary White and her aide, Paula Souza, noted an average growth of 11.3 months per pupil.

Mr. Robert Gardner, Junior High Principal, indicates that this year's reading lab will service both seventh and eighth graders, giving preference to students who are two or more years below grade level in reading.

"We hope to make this reading program an integral part of the junior high program," said Mr. Gardner. Reading lab sessions are scheduled three or four times each week using a variety of materials suited to the reading needs and learning methods of students involved. As soon as possible, Mrs. Andrews, the Junior High nurse, will administer vision tests to students in the program.

Finish I-195 work in June, DPW told

Ottaway News Service

BOSTON — Gov. Francis W. Sargent has ordered a speedup of the work on I-195 so the project can be finished by the end of June.

Thomas Reardon, the governor's press secretary, said Tuesday that traffic safety and congestion problems resulting from the work, particularly during rush hours in downtown New Bedford, prompted Sargent to direct the Department of Public Works to do what it can to complete the road five months earlier than had been planned.

The DPW, Reardon said, has told the governor's office the work could be finished by June 28, and Sargent has directed the department to authorize the necessary overtime to accomplish it.

According to the governor's spokesman, the extra work will cost "less than $50,000", and will be paid out of existing DPW funds.

A week ago, Paul G. Hamel of New Bedford, a member of the governor's Executive Council, asked DPW for an explanation of the roadwork, and was told the entire Wareham-to-New Bedford stretch would be completed by Nov. 30.

But almost as Hamel was being told this, the roadwork was creating new problems. New traffic patterns for entering New Bedford were put into motion, causing massive traffic jams

The Standard-Times

New Bedford, Mass., May 29, 1974 *

A timely speedup

Gov. Sargent is to be highly commended for appraising the intolerable traffic situation existing in Downtown New Bedford and taking steps to alleviate it. Credit goes, too, to Rep. MacLean of Fairhaven and Governor's Councillor Hamel of New Bedford for calling attention to the problem.

The governor's instruction to the State Department of Public Works to order overtime work on completion of the Acushnet River crossing of Route I-195 represents the most practical way to relieve the congestion at the New Bedford-Fairhaven Bridge. A new target date of June 28 has been set.

Frustrating as it has been, the bridge tieup could only worsen as summer approaches, unless the I-195 link is completed, because the alternative to using the bridge, the Coggeshall Street bypass, would be absorbed by through traffic.

While the governor is to be complimented for acting to meet the crisis, one wonders how it is possible

Mrs. Richard Waterhouse is getting estimates on the cost of restoring the portrait of Wilson Barstow in the Library.

Miss Sally Jones and her committee are planning a Music Festival for next spring, including songs and dances from the Revolutionary war period.

Other projects have been considered but are only in the talking stage.

The Bicentennial Committee would be most happy to have any group or persons interested to come to our meetings. They are held the second Thursday of the month at 7:30 P.M. in the Town Hall. All are welcome.

MYSTERY TRIP

The Mystery Trip was a very great success. It was a beautiful day, and all were in exuberant spirits with pleasant reunions and forming new friendships.

Leaving Plymouth County we drove through scenic Essex County with a wealth of early American history, old historical homes and landmarks, enroute to the City of Salem which in the late 1800's drew many visitors for the China Trade and witchcraft trials.

Touring the city to the Second Church of Salem which now houses the Witch Museum, is an experience which should never be missed and one you'll never forget. It's a new concept in life-size figures, sound and sight, exciting, recreation of the witchcraft from early beginning to ending in trials and execution.

Then to the Peabody Mall where most of them dined at the Sky Top Restaurant and thrilled to the American Flags flying in the Leaving Peabody Mall they had a sight tour again of the Salem they had missed and drove the entire coastline of Marblehead - the cliffs, rocks, boats. An unexpected event was some 8 year old skinny dippers who were so surprised at the sightseeing bus, they just stared in awe and forgot to jump in.

As much of the time at Peabody Mall was spent in eating we went to the Burlington Mall for shopping. Then returning home there was another stop for food-ice cream-shakes, etc.

Happy and thrilled with an exciting day each and every one thanked Norman Blanchette, our driver by request. He is a man of few words but concerned only with the safety of the human lives in his care.

Singing along as we drove, with solos, chorus, whistling, everyone let go for six hours. It was do all you can today, who knows about tomorrow. Not one discontented person, as each and every one thanked and complimented the bus driver, eagerly awaiting a next time.

Letter to the Editor

The September 4, 1974, issue of the "Presto Press" carried a cover story about Ginny Bassett and the 4-H pumpkins she grew during the summer. The article said Ginny was worried she had lost her instructions on the final contest.

As a result of your article, the enclosed letter was sent to Ginny, telling her that the contest instructions were not lost and will be mailed to her in the near future.

The contest Ginny entered is the 4-H Giant Pumpkin Contest, open, free of charge, to every boy and girl, ages 6-18, living in Plymouth County. The Contest was offered through schools and 4-H clubs early last spring. Each participant received 3 "Big Max" pumpkin seeds and an information packet on care and growth. The children planted their seeds during the spring and tended the growing plants throughout the summer. With proper care, the pumpkins could grow to over 200 pounds! On the weekend before Halloween, the participants are invited to exhibit their pumpkins for ribbons and prizes in one of 4 regional contest.

This year, the 4-H Giant Pumpkin Contest will be held on October 26, 1974. Ginny and her friends will be able to choose which of the 4 regional contest locations they wish to attend: Miles Standish Plaza, Plymouth; Campus Plaza, Bridgewater; Hanover Mall, Hanover; or the Westgate Mall, Brockton. All regional contests meet at 10:00 A.M., the 26th.

There will be four classes that participants may enter: 1. Biggest Pumpkin; 2. Best looking Pumpkin; 3. Jack-O-Lantern; 4. Decorated Pumpkin.

At the regional contests, all participants will receive a ribbon award, and the 5 top winners in each class will receive a prize and an invitation to attend the County contest, to be held the same day, at 4:00 P.M., at the Westgate Mall, Brockton. There, they will join the other local winners in competing for the top County awards. The Best of Show in each class will receive a trophy, and Rosettes will be given out to the 2 runners-up.

This should be a very exciting day and we invite everyone to come and see Ginny Bassett and all the other participants and the awards they hope their pumpkins will win in the 1974 4-H Giant Pumpkin Contest!

"Binding The Wounds"

Editorial, D.C.J.

In an incredibly short period, President Ford has eroded the overwhelming support and confidence of the American public through highly questionable decisions. His phrase to "bind our wounds" has become repulsive in the extreme and we keep hearing it repeated as though from an oval echo chamber.

The decision to pardon former President Nixon, after observing that the American people would not stand for it, certainly inspired no confidence among those who admire consistency in leadership. It also indicates that justice is a relative matter depending upon the power and position of those who seek it. The request that Congress approve over $800,000 to set up an office and staff for the pardoned former chief executive would lead many to the conclusion that this retirement was with honor and deserving of the greatest plunder of the public treasury. The Ford plan to trim excess governmental spending could have well started here.

The second decision, which preceded the pardon of President Nixon, was that of amnesty for all of U. S. draft dodgers and deserters. This is by far the more dangerous of the two for it involves not only the sidestepping of equal justice but the future safety of the country. The citizens of the United States now have a clear precedent for individually deciding which policy of the United States they will support and which they will ignore. Even if the individual had all of the information available upon which to base a decision of this kind, it is doubtful that any nation can survive such division. The whole basis of our social structure rests upon the allegiance of the citizen to a common goal determined by an elected leadership. Complete freedom is anarchy.

There are people who resent the fact that our leaders see fit to squander the treasury and resources of the U. S. on foreign governments which have little or no regard for our country. We still send billions per year to Vietnam and who has seen a recent box score on the progress of that war? Fully half of our staggering national debt has been caused by foreign giveaways. That debt is the direct cause of our inflation. Suppose those who oppose this waste of our national treasury decide individually not to support this policy. Suppose they refuse to pay income taxes. In its own way, this would be an effective method of attack upon a policy of our government that is against the moral judgement of the individual. A citizen would decide not to support the waste of our national treasury. Well, that individual has Leavenworth in his future or better head for Canada and prepare to remain permanently.

Our foreign based draft dodgers claim that they are unfairly classed with deserters; they claim that draft dodging should have total unconditional amnesty. Deserters come in all categories from escaped criminal to the battle fatigued but at least they have something in common. At least they fought for the national policy of their country whether they liked it or not. Not content with the lenient amnesty conditions of President Ford, our draft dodgers now are demanding unconditional amnesty. In the U.S. they are televised being released from prison claiming that they will never sign a pledge of loyalty to the U. S. President Ford had better hope that he never has to defend the U.S. with these returned citizens. In fact, now all military age people have a precedent to choose or not to choose to defend the country. Serving the country may no longer be viewed as the honorable choice or the wisest choice.

In two weeks and in two decisions, the new President has weakened his leadership.

What are wet lands? The Wetlands Protectional Act defines these by their plant growth and kinds. When can a conservation commission enter the private lands of farmers to execute this act? Under the Massachusetts Environment Policy Act it is now easier for the state to approve of private development projects.

We need you to join our Land Use LWV Workshop. Bring a friend to Liz Brainard's home in Marion at 312 Delano Road on September 26th at 9:30 A.M. to learn what is planned for this fall's Workshop. The next LWV Workshop is on October 3rd at 12:30 at the home of Sylvia Bigelow, at 10 South Street, Marion. We will study the impact of the courts on youth and the family, Juvenile Justice and the Probate Court System.

Around The Cape Race

CAPE BOAT RACE THIS SATURDAY

"The Great Around the Cape Race" -- featuring between 15-20 late-model power boats that will reach speeds up to 70 mph on open water -- is officially set for this Saturday, September 28, at 10:30 A.M. from in front of the Mass Maritime Academy in Buzzards Bay. If the race is postponed due to weather conditions, it will be held the following day, Sunday, September 29.

The 115 mile course, assuming smooth going, will take the boats past preferred viewing points at the following estimated times: Woods Hole, 10:50-11:00 A.M.; Monomoy (Chatham area), 11:20 - 11:30 A.M.; Race Point (Provincetown), 12:05-12:15; finish line (outside Sandwich entrance to Cape Cod Canal), 12:25-12:35. Race authorities were not able to obtain approval for race usage of the Canal itself, however participant and spectator boats will parade through the Canal following the race.

Perhaps 10 different types of boats will race in stock, modified stock and super modified stock categories, with at least five Magnums already confirmed. Judges for the race--which is sanctioned by the Coast Guard and will be run under National Offshore Racing Association rules -- include Alfred Nataloni, Director of Marine and Recreational Vehicles, Mass. Registry of Motor Vehicles; Paul O'Donnell of New England Expositions, Boston; and Captain Allan McNaughton, of the Mass Maritime Academy trainig ship, BAY STATE. Trophies will be awarded to winners of each classification.

A driver meeting will be held Friday night, September 27 -- followed by a reception for the press, participants and those involved with the race-- at the Fairway by the Bay condominiums in Wareham. On Saturday evening, an awards ceremony will be held at the Windjammer Restaurant in Wareham.

Skip Robinson, owner of race sponsor Onset Bay Marina, concluded race preparations by stating, "A relatively small group of people have worked quite hard to bring this first "big league" power boat race to Southeastern Massa chusetts and New England. We hope the efforts of these people and the interest and en-sophisticated equipment operated by trained Respiratory Therapy Technicians from Union Hospital.

The equipment will be set up in the center of the Mall and testing only takes a few minutes after filling out a form.

The test consists of breathing into a measuring device and the results are read from a computer and recorded. Those tested are later notified as to the results and whether further testing or consultation with their personal physician is indicated.

Chronic lung disease is the nation's most rapidly growing problem. Emphysema and chronic bronchitis have doubled for each five year period over the last fifteen years. There are at present over 20 million persons with varying degrees of chronic obstructive lung disease in the United States.

The results of the testing will be evaluated by Rahim Aghai, M.D., Medical Director of the Respiratory Care Department and Pulmonary Laboratory at Union Hospital, and the testing will be supervised by Richard J. Enos, Registered Therapist, head of that department.

"Hawaiian Nite" on Saturday is being held to help defray the increased fuel costs of the coming winter months. The public is cordially invited to participate in this benefit.

At 7 P.M. a Polynesian buffet, served in the newly decorated gymnasium, will include Hawaiian chicken, baked sweet potato, peas Polynesian, broiled bananas, mai-tai (punch) and fresh fruit.

Staff members Rita Grenon, Grace Young and Trix Whalen are supervising food preparation and will be assisted by several YWCA volunteers.

Hawaiian dancer Cecily "Kealoha" Turnbull will entertain in Hawaiian costume. Cecily, a resident of Marion, is a student at Stang High School. While living in Midway Island Cecily became interested in all styles of dancing, particularly the hula. She has traveled extensively in Europe, Africa, South America, the Azores and the South Pacific. This past spring she spent at Guanaja Island, a part of Honduras.

Art Perry's orchestra will provide music for dancing, and line dancing will be featured.

Tickets are available at the main desk through Thursday, and may also be purchased from members of the general committee.
